Title: University governance and leadership

Abstract: University governance and leadership has become an important issue and a core research topic in recent years. Under the unprecedented changes in the external environment as well as the internal environment of universities, higher education institutions are undergoing various structural and functional challenges and reforms. Structural research and comparative studies on university governance and leadership are crucial to enhance our knowledge and competences in functioning as academic leaders and university leadership. The research will engage HEIs of various natures and from different parts of the world. Both theoretical underpinning and practical experiences & cases will be studied and analysed. Researchers in the area of education, governance, leadership, organisational culture, pedagogy, innovations, professional development, management, public administration, institutional analysis, strategic management, etc. are welcome to engage in research on the suggested theme. The research will be situated at an international level by interacting with relevant professors and researchers from various continents and countries.
